Comments on the CTP-4 Test

- We use CTP-4 annually for grades 3–9 only. It does not follow our Singapore Math Curriculum, though.
- This test is not as helpful to administer to students who have not come through grammar stage classical education. Also, the lack of a GLE report makes it much more difficult to explain to the parents of those students. We sometimes find that the test is not an accurate account of the student's actual performance in the classroom giving the parents the idea that there are inconsistencies in reporting achievement. In addition, we are not finding the test matches our curriculum as nicely as we would like.
- We test grades 2–10 every year.
- We find that this test covers some, but not most, of the standards of our program. We are currently still evaluating its effectiveness.
- We like the Fall Norm, but it is slightly more limited in reporting options, I believe. The Academy has used the Fall Norm in the past. For the 2016–17, we are moving to the Spring Norm.
- We have been doing this test since November 2008.
- We just started testing CTP-4 online last year. It was a bit of a learning curve and our test scores were not quite representative of where our kids are at.
